

Humility Is Today's Mortgage Payment Due

Prisons are propelled by the perceived irregulars, abnormal, and anomalies no one's anonymous in the clouds of social media for every trial and triumph, there is another autobiography – young and innocent I wanted to be my country's President before my gangster, my hustles, I'm talking every part of me even though it's levels to conspiracies, all this greed, and hate I still aim to propel my remaining innocence in our predatorial society – see from birth the greater majority of us are from the mud and programmed to be a working class to chase necessities I'm just a gourmet ingredient discovered screaming Oyezxx for Tookie, Mandela, Martha, Emery, and Maino type recipes – due to our political climates, I have to look beyond portfolios I can no longer trust what's leading us or their alleged credits in our Google society, their worth is just as tainted as felons so are their fraternities, financial relations, and levels of debits – now open your eyes I'm something like manure, fertilizing the soil, you can comprehend the nutrients in every verse as a loving parent like a newborn, I'm bottle feeding Oyezxx imported formulas patented and assured to make your thoughts burp – now name for name and soul for soul we all are dreamers who have dreamers holding their breaths waiting to exhale mentally in the finest of hotels like Expedia chasing history like encyclopedias being forever indebted to Vantell Media – a heart of gold who understood I was tired of being tired now today I can trust, withstand judgments, and corrections knowing getting out of our own way is a learned art saturated in uncomfortableness, fears, and directions – so its without question the propellers and designs of prisons have targeted poverty, addictions, this undoubtedly is no accident for centuries we've lived amongst society free as incarcerated targets perpetuating ignorance and more ignorance in thousands of accents – so as I close remember the time for equality, change, and loving thy neighbor is humbling and clearly before us, as the sun rises and sets humility undeniably shifts with it like our higher power taxes on life I'm talking life's humility mortgage –
